Groundbreaking news!

As you know, we’ve been raising funds and making plans to build a new Elizabeth Stone House – one with larger, more adequate space to meet the needs of the domestic violence survivors we serve. Not only will our new home enhance our services, but we’ll also be able to triple the number of adults and children we help in our community.

We have exciting news to share! We will be completing our financing soon and are on track to break ground this spring! A date for our Groundbreaking Celebration event will soon be announced, so watch our Facebook and Twitter feeds, and if you are a member of our CornerStone Community, you will receive an early bird invitation as our thank you for your continued support.

To learn more about this project and how you can help, please contact Jim May, Director of Development at jmay@elizabethstone.org or 617-409-5417.

Thank you, MLK Day volunteers!

This January, the Elizabeth Stone House partnered again with the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum for the Martin Luther King, Jr. Day of Service. Museum patrons carried out the legacy of Dr. King by assembling care packages for our families at the museum. Bundles were full of essential items like toothbrushes, toothpaste, lotions and other toiletries. In addition to the care package, the museum also donated large boxes of extra supplies for our families.

We are extremely grateful for this collaboration with the Gardner Museum and its patrons. We look forward to continuing this partnership to benefit our families and strengthen our community.

To learn how to become a member of our CornerStone Community, please go to our website at www.elizabethstone.org.

Working together in The Hub

The Elizabeth Stone House is proud to partner with the Boston Police Department (BPD), MassHousing, the Brigham and Women’s Trauma Response Team and other community organizations in a new, innovative community collaborative model of early intervention to reduce violence.

Last June, Canadian-based firm Global Network for Community Safety trained Boston police officers and various community partners, city agencies and nonprofits on the Hub Model of risk-driven collaboration.

Using this model, the BPD, Stone House and other community organizations work together to engage residents in the community who are at-risk of falling into the criminal justice system, when in actuality they are battling circumstances like homelessness, substance abuse, mental illness and domestic violence. The collective group consults with community partners specializing in these challenges and do follow up outreach for services and resources.

We believe this alliance and united approach will allow us to reach more domestic violence survivors in need, while contributing to healthier, safer Boston neighborhoods.

Pictured at the Gardner Museum (L to R): Rhea Vedro and Brian Hone of the Gardner Museum with Catherine Lawrie and Kathy Fagan of Stone House.
Building Foundations for Change
Wilderness Heals
A pledge hike to benefit the Elizabeth Stone House | July 19-21, 2019

Whether you’re already an avid hiker, or someone looking for a meaningful fitness experience, join us for another Wilderness Heals pledge hike! We are looking for 60 women to raise money for domestic violence survivors by taking to the trails in this three-day trek through New Hampshire’s White Mountains. Whatever your goal – explore the Whites, meet new people, raise funds for a cause you’re passionate about – our experienced Team Leaders will support you and cheer for you throughout your journey.

For more information, please email Catherine Lawrie at clawrie@elizabethstone.org or visit wildernessheals.elizabethstone.org!

“I signed up for the hike not knowing anyone, and I was immediately welcomed into this amazing, uplifting and supportive community of women action takers. It was exactly what I was looking for. The time, the effort, the willingness to blindly sign up for something like this — I am so grateful I said YES to all of it. I am so grateful I made the choice to join paths with this group and be a part of something so much bigger than myself.”
–Wilderness Heals hiker

Strokes of Luck
Elizabeth Stone House annual golf tournament | May 20, 2019

Tee time is set for our sixth annual Elizabeth Stone House golf tournament! Join us on May 20 at the Cape Club of Sharon, a championship golf course ranked amongst the top of Massachusetts.

Register now as a participant and/or sponsor, and join dozens of other golfers for a day on the greens while raising money for Stone House and domestic violence survivors.

For more information, please contact Kathy Fagan at kfagan@elizabethstone.org.

Mark your calendars for our upcoming events!